An aerial view of a racetrack layout. The track is a dark grey, winding path that starts from a straight section at the bottom, loops through a series of curves, and ends back at the straight section. The track is surrounded by a light brown area, which is further bordered by a green area representing grass or trees. At the bottom of the track, there is a white structure that looks like a pit or a service area. To the left of the track, there is a parking lot with several spaces marked. The entire scene is set against a light grey background.
